"Stories In A Box"

Ashawagh Hall was the setting for a special exhibition of "Stories in a Box," works created by students at the Hayground School. The exhibition drew crowds of parents, friends and curious art lovers.

"Stories in a Box" is a result of a multi-discipline project that the students worked on under the direction of Hayground faculty member Arjun Achuthan. The process involved creating a story and giving it a tactile, 3-D physical interactive home, in this case story scrolls mounted inside brightly painted colored boxes.

Arjun Achuthan, David Feuer and Daisja Feuer admire the boxes.

The young storyteller artists on display included Amelia Martens - "Surrounded by Water;" Maya Buckner - "The Last Sighting of Megaball;" Vanessa Alfaro - "The Story of Super Squirrel;" Jesse Haynes - "The Evil Spider King Thing;" Daisja Feuer - "The Most Extreme;" Max Cheng - "The Two-Minded Man;" Robert Thomas - "How Good Jello Goes Bad;" Katya Wolosoff - "Sedric Meow The Third;"
